PREFACE

The compiling of "A Bibliography of the Negro in Africa and America" is an effort to furnish extended and comprehensive references to sources of information relating to all phases of the present day life of the Negro, to the conditions affecting this life and also to the anthropological and historical background of the same.

The compiling of this bibliography which has extended over a period of more than twenty years, has had an interesting development. Work on it was first begun in connection with a study of Africa, to assist in which references on the subject were collected.

In 1912 the writer issued the first edition of the Negro Year Book. One section of it, "A Select Bibliography of the Negro," contained 408 classified references. The amount of material in the bibliographical section in each subsequent edition of the Negro Year Book was increased and its scope widened.

There were, in the meantime, increasing demands from persons interested in the study of the Negro for more extended bibliographical materials on this subject than were found in the Negro Year Book. These demands indicated the need of issuing as a separate volume a more extended and comprehensive bibliography of references relating to the Negro than had hitherto been published.

In 1921 the Carnegie Corporation of New York made a grant to the Department of Records and Research of the Tuskegee Institute which enabled the writer to begin in a large way to compile "A Bibliography of the Negro." First of all a collection of the bibliographies that had been published on this subject was made. No one of them, it was found, was at all extended or comprehensive. The Atlanta University Studies No. 10, "A Select Bibliography of the Negro American," compiled in 1905, contained 1992 alphabetically arranged but unclassified references. The Library of Congress in 1906 issued a bibliography, "A Select List of References on the Negro Question." This contained 522 alphabetically arranged but unclassified references. Numerous other less important bibliographies were issued as appendices to books and articles on the Negro.

During the five years, 1921 to 1925, a collection of more than 30,000 references of all sorts on the Negro was made. From these a classified list of some 10,000 references was compiled for publication as "A Select Bibliography of the Negro in the United States." There was in this compilation a brief appendix of references on the Negro in Africa.

In the meantime interest in the bibliography became international. It was suggested that its scope be widened. The result was that in the two years, 1926 and 1927, the original compilation was revised and enlarged three times. Over 7,000 additional references were added. The title was changed from "The Negro in the United States," to "The Negro in Africa and America."

The compiler, through the cooperation of the Phelps-Stokes Fund and the Tuskegee Institute, had the opportunity to spend some time in Europe consulting with individuals who were authorities on African languages and cultures and collecting references for the bibliography from the following libraries: The British Museum, London; Library of the Royal Colonial Institute, London; Library of the Colonial Office, London; Public Records Office, London; Library of the Colonial Institute, Brussels; Bibliothèque de la Société Belge de Missions Protestantes au Congo, Brussels; Library of the Colonial Institute, The Hague; Seminar for Oriental Languages (formerly Colonial Institute), Hamburg; Staatsbibliothek, Berlin; Universitätsbibliothek, Berlin; Museen für Tierkunde und Völkerkunde, Dresden; Library Evangelical Missionary Society, Basel; Library of the League of Nations, Geneva; Bibliothèque de la Société des Missions Evangéliques, Paris; Bibliothèque du Ministère des Colonies, Paris; Bibliothèque Publique de l'Agence Générale des Colonies, Paris; Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris.

Grateful acknowledgement is herewith made: To the Tuskegee Institute for furnishing the opportunity and providing the facilities necessary for compiling a work of this magnitude; to Dr. Robert R. Moton, Principal, to Mr. R. R. Taylor, Vice-Principal and to other members of the faculty, for their advice and assistance; to the Carnegie Corporation of New York, the Phelps-Stokes Fund and the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial for financial assistance; to Dr. Anson Phelps Stokes, President of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, for his interest and assistance in collecting materials, in the arrangement of the bibliography and the publishing of the same; to Dr. C. T. Loram, Commissioner of Native Affairs, Union of South Africa, for his suggestions relative to the scope of the bibliography and securing materials from European sources; to Mr. W. A. Slade, Chief Bibliographer of the Library of Congress, for examining the manuscript and making helpful suggestions relative to standard forms for reference entries, and other criticisms leading to improvement in the arrangement of the materials; to Dr. Erasmo Braga, Executive Secretary of the Brazilian Branch of the Committee on Cooperation in Latin America and Congressman Professor Basilio de Magalhães, distinguished historian, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, for their assistance in procuring references relating to the Negro in South America.

For examining the manuscript, supplying references and making helpful criticisms, the compiler acknowledges with gratitude his obligations to: Professor D. Westermann, Berlin, Director International Institute of African Languages and Cultures; Dr. Bernhard Struck, Dresden, Museen für Tierkunde und Völkerkunde; Miss Alice Werner, London, The London School of Oriental Studies; Miss Georgina A. Gollock, London, International Council of Missions; Dr. Edwin W. Smith, London, British and Foreign Bible House.

Other persons to whom we wish to make acknowledgement and express appreciation for the help which they rendered in the compilation of this work, are: Miss Ruth Anna Fisher, London, Copyist; Mr. R. H. Simpson, London, Secretary, American University Union; Mr. Hanns Vischer, London, Secretary General, International Institute of African Languages and Cultures; Dr. John H. Oldham, London, Secretary, International Council of Missions; Miss B. D. Gibson, London, International Council of Missions; Dr. Henri Anet, Brussels, Directeur de la Société Belge de Missions Protestantes au Congo; Mr. Gaston D. Périer, Brussels, The Colonial Institute; Dr. Walter Simon, Berlin, Universitätsbibliothek; Dr. Ernest Crous, Berlin, Staatsbibliothek; Dr. Alfred Mansfeld, Berlin, Deutsche Gesellschaft für Eingeborenkunde; Reverend W. Oettli, Basel, Secretary for Africa of the Evangelical Mission of Basel; Dr. Henri Junod, Geneva, Swiss Romande Mission; Mr. Basil Mathews, Geneva, World's Alliance of Young Men's Christian Association; Mr. Finn T. B. Friis, Geneva, Secretary, Mandates Section League of Nations; Mr. Harold Grimshaw, Geneva, Head of the Mandate Department, International Labour Office, League of Nations; Professor André Siegfried, Paris, Ecole des Sciences Politiques; Dr. H. S. Krans, Paris, Secretary American University Union; M. Daniel Couve, Paris, Directeur de la Société des Missions Evangéliques de Paris; Mr. Alfred Zimmern, Paris, Deputy Director of the League of Nations Institute for Intellectual Cooperation; Professor Otto Dempwolff, Hamburg, Seminar für Afrikanische und Südseesprachen; Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones, Director, and Mr. L. A. Roy, Office Secretary of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, New York; Dr. Charles H. Fahs, Director, and Miss Hollis W. Hering, Librarian, Missionary Research Library, New York; Mr. Charles S. Johnson, Editor of Opportunity, New York; Mr. Arthur A. Schomburg, Collector of Old and Rare Books on the Negro, New York; Mr. J. A. Rogers, Newspaper Correspondent, New York; Mr. Lester A. Walton, Theatrical Critic, New York; Mr. Thomas L. G. Oxley, Boston; and Professor Joseph S. Price, West Virginia Collegiate Institute.

Grateful acknowledgement is also made to: Mr. Ralph N. Davis; Miss Jessie W. Parkhurst; Miss Mayme V. Holmes; Miss Irene Jones and Miss Wilna Russell of the Department of Records and Research of the Tuskegee Institute for the faithful work rendered in the preparation of the bibliography.

INTRODUCTION

It is a privilege as a trustee of the Tuskegee Institute and as President of the Phelps-Stokes Fund to write a brief Introduction to this BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE NEGRO IN AFRICA AND AMERICA.

There are, I think, four things which every reader has a right to know before taking up a work of this character, namely: its purpose and scope, the history of the undertaking, the personality and career of the author, and the significance of the work as it appears to one interested in the history, achievements and problems of the Negro.

Purpose and Scope

The purpose of this Bibliography is to furnish an accurate and comprehensive handbook of the titles and authors of valuable books, pamphlets and articles from periodicals on the Negro in Africa and America. These references also furnish sources of information on the various problems created by his presence in these two continents in close proximity to people of other races. The author has not tried to include all known printed works on the subjects named. Indeed he has eliminated more titles than he has included, so that the book is a select reference bibliography on the Negro with more than 17,000 entries covering the most worth-while publications in different languages issued before 1928.

The needs of the student of history and the other social sciences have been kept constantly in mind. With this object in view the material has been grouped under two main divisions, namely, "The Negro in Africa" and "The Negro in America," while each of these sections has been further subdivided, so that there are in all some 74 carefully classified chapters. It should therefore be possible for the student with the aid of this Bibliography to find without difficulty the most valuable works that have been written on any subject in connection with the development or experience of the African or American Negro.

History of the Undertaking

This book has a history of a quarter of a century. The first date of importance is 1904, when the author, Mr. Monroe N. Work, was a teacher of History at the Georgia State Industrial College in Savannah. He then became deeply interested in the study of Africa and began to compile a bibliography on the subject. This work was materially helped by his purchasing several thousand cards on Africa from the Library of Congress.

A second date of significance is 1912, when Mr. Work, who had become Director of the Department of Records and Research at Tuskegee Institute, issued his first edition of the Negro Year Book. This contained a "Select Bibliography of the Negro" with 408 references. Subsequent editions have found this feature of the Year Book increased so that the latest edition—that for 1925-26—contains 2,875 classified references. These bibliographies were confined almost exclusively to the Negro in the United States. Their preparation was aided by pamphlets on the subject published by the Library of Congress, Atlanta University, and other institutions, but they soon superseded them in general use.

In 1921 the undertaking took on a broader scope through grants made by the Carnegie Corporation in aid of Mr. Work's researches. He was now able to purchase the cards of the Library of Congress on the American Negro in addition to those on Africa, and to secure the necessary clerical assistance in getting his material arranged for publication.

In 1926-27 the plan of the Bibliography took on its final form as a result of conferences held with Mr. W. A. Slade, Chief Bibliographer of the Library of Congress, Dr. C. T. Loram, Commissioner of Native Affairs of the Union of South Africa, Dr. Diedrich Westermann, Professor of African Languages at the University of Berlin, and others. As a result Tuskegee Institute and the Phelps-Stokes Fund made it possible for Mr. Work, after completing his studies in the most important American libraries, to visit the great collections of Europe so as to make sure that his Bibliography on the Negro in Africa was as comprehensive, as far as important works were concerned, as his bibliography on the Negro in America. Every possible facility was placed at his disposal by such representative libraries as the British Museum, the British Colonial Office, the Royal Colonial Institute of London, the Colonial Institutes of Brussels and Hamburg, the Bibliothèque Nationale of Paris, the Library of the League of Nations, and other university, public, colonial and missionary society libraries. Mr. Work was also able to get in personal touch with European authorities on Africa and on Bibliography and so insure that his book of reference should rank with other representative publications of its kind.

The Author

The author of this Bibliography, Monroe Nathan Work, is himself a Negro, born of slave parentage in Iredell County, North Carolina, August 15, 1866, only eight months after the abolition of slavery was officially announced in the United States. Mr. Work secured his elementary education in the public schools of Kansas and later studied at the University of Chicago, taking the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy in 1902 and of Master of Arts in Sociology and Psychology in 1903. From 1903 to 1908 he was Professor of Pedagogy and History at the Georgia State Industrial College, Savannah, and from 1908 to the present, a period of 20 years, he has been Director of the Department of Records and Research at Tuskegee. This department has rendered signal service in collecting statistical information regarding the Negro, and has published every few years editions of the Negro Year Book, an invaluable handbook of facts regarding the development and condition of the Negro in the United States. In addition to being a member of several national sociological and economic associations, Mr. Work is a trustee of the National Association of Teachers in Colored Schools. He has always placed his broad knowledge of the Negro and of sources of information regarding his history and present condition at the disposal of other scholars. They have in turn held him in high regard for his disinterestedness, his modesty, his capacity for hard work, his passion for facts and his ability to find them. He gives every one the feeling that his feet are squarely planted on the ground and that he knows how to be entirely impartial and objective. His training at the University of Chicago, his effective labors in connection with the editorship of the Negro Year Book and his work at Tuskegee Institute, followed by his long investigations in American and European libraries, would seem to have provided an admirable preparation for the present undertaking. It is only fair to add that he has been greatly assisted in all his work by his wife, Mrs. Florence H. Work.

Significance of the Bibliography

It is difficult to overestimate the significance of this Bibliography to all students of the Negro and of interracial problems. During recent weeks I have personally had several examples of its need and value. A graduate student at a southern university wrote me asking information regarding books dealing with the Negro and crime. Chapter XXXIV, Section 1-3, gives the student a key to this whole difficult field. Similarly, another correspondent wished information regarding the segregation of the Negro in public places in American cities. Chapter XXXIII, Section 4, gives him all the important references. A third instance comes to mind. A student from abroad wished all essential facts regarding the racial characteristics of the Negro, as shown both in Africa and the United States. Chapter XXXVIII, supplemented by Chapter XXVII, will make it possible for him to pursue his inquiries intelligently. Scores of questions such as those mentioned can be answered in a competent way only by the use of this work.

I believe that Mr. Work's BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE NEGRO IN AFRICA AND AMERICA will prove a valuable book of references for all university, college and public libraries, and that students of social conditions in Africa and the United States, especially those concerned with that most complicated of all social problems, the race problem, will find it absolutely indispensable. Some one was sure to undertake the task of meeting the need for this comprehensive bibliography. I, for one, am extremely glad that an American Negro, with only a trace of white blood, had the imagination to conceive of the work on broad lines, the scholarly mind to follow the best bibliographic standards in its preparation, and the persistence to carry it through effectively in spite of the enormous labor and difficulties involved. It is a monument of which any man or any race may well feel proud.

The author, who was born in Lisbon in 1542, went to India as a soldier and resided there ten years. After a visit to his native country he returned to India, and took up the work of Barros, of which only three decades had at that time been published. His writings attracted the notice of King Filipe I. of Portugal who . . . appointed Diogo de Couto Chronicler of the State of India, and Principal Custodian of the Archives there. The first of De Couto's decades covers the same ground as the fourth of De Barros, but there are eight others, so that between these two writers we have a chronicle covering a hundred and twenty years. A full edition of the works of De Barros and De Couto was published at Lisbon in 1778-88 in 24 volumes.

"Relazione del Regno di Congo et delle vicine contrade tratta dalli scritti et regionamenti di Odoardo Lopez portoghese per F. P. con disegni varii di geografia, di piante, d'habiti, d'animali et altro." Roma, 1591. Lateinisch: Frankfurt 1598, 1609 und 1624 von Reinius unter dem titel: "Regnum Congo ho est vera descriptioregni Africani" Holländisch: Amsterdam, 1596. Englisch: London, 1597. Auszug daraus von Linschoten: "Descriptio Guineae", 1599. Deutsch erschien das werk unter dem titel: "Beschreibung des Königreichs Congo in Afrika ver-teutschet durch A. Cassiodorum." Frankfurt, 1597. Überaus werthvolles werk mit einer hochinteressanten karte von Afrika und bildern. Pigafetta's "Relazione" hat nicht so sehr in Portugal und Italien, für das er ja mehr oder weniger bekanntes schrieb, als im übrigen Europa aufsehen gemacht. Die Afrika-karte des Pigafetta, auf welcher zum erstenmale der fabelhafte See Achelunda oder Aquilonda verzeichnet ist, bildete die grundlage der darstellung des inneren von West-Afrika bis in die neuere zeit. African Civilizations

(An interesting and important part of the history of Africa relates to the origin of the civilizations which have developed in Negro Africa. Questions have been raised concerning the origin of these civilizations:—To what extent are they indigenous and to what extent are they the result of outside influences; that is from Egypt, North Africa and elsewhere? The materials which are presented here give information concerning the nature and extent of these civilizations and views on their probable origin.)

Twenty years in Zambesia. 1872-1892. Geog J no. 4, 1:289-324 Ap 1893. Map.

Mr. Selous states that in his opinion "the ancient builders of Zimbabwe were not first destroyed and then supplanted by an inferior race, but they became gradually fused with a lower race, which bears traces of its admixture with the more intelligent people." With regard to the gold mines, it is asserted that "The Portuguese records abundantly prove that the gold-mining went on without interruption till early in the present century, and the old men among the Matabels who took part in the first raids made amongst the Mashonas by Umziligazi's (Moselekatsé's) warriors, state positively that they found the Amacholi working for gold. . . ." It is mentioned that in 1891 a bucket and rope made of bark were found in a shaft, and having been constructed of so perishable material, they could not have been of any great antiquity.

Slavery in the Transvaal. 1881. 8 p.
A pamphlet issued by the Transvaal independence committee, reproducing a letter addressed to the Daily news, February 19, 1881, by the secretary of the committee. It is maintained that no slavery has existed in the Republic since the year 1868, and that even prior to that date the Boer government had done its utmost to stamp it out.

The African Slave Trade to America

(The purpose of the references in this chapter is to give, from an economic and social standpoint, extended information about the maritime slave trade between Africa and America. These references furnish sources of information relative to the parts of Africa from which the transported slaves came, the origin of the trade, its development, its duration and the efforts which were made to abolish it. A number of the references relate to Sierra Leone and Fernando Po which were used as bases by the British fleets sent out to suppress the slave trade. Large numbers of the recaptured slaves were settled in these two places. Information introductory to this chapter is found above in Chapter XI of Part I, "Slavery and the slave trade within Africa.")

Consult: Slave registration and compensation records (T. 71) 1812 to 1846. 1630 vols. etc. In this class are comprised the records of (1) The slave registration department, which was established pursuant to Stat. 59. Geo. III c. 120. "An act for establishing a registry of colonial slaves in Great Britain, and for making further provision with respect to the removal of slaves from British colonies.

After the passing of the act in 1811 for the abolition of the slave trade many of the colonies had instituted registers of the Negroes lawfully held in slavery. Copies of these and subsequent registers were now ordered to be transmitted regularly to London.

The registers which extend from 1813 to 1834 number about 650 volumes, most of which are indexed under the names of the owners or plantations. (2) The slave compensation commission. This owed its origin to the act of 3 & 4 William IV. c. 73, by which slavery was abolished in the British dominions and a sum of £20,000,000 was granted by Parliament to compensate the slave proprietors. This was followed by various other acts to facilitate the distribution of the compensation until by Stat. 4, Vict. c. 18, it was directed that moneys unpaid after 31 Dec. 1842 should revert to the public.

Extract of a letter to a gentleman in Maryland; wherein is demonstrated the extreme wickedness of tolerating the slave trade, in order to favour the illegalities of our colonies, where the two first foundations of English law (two witnesses of God), are supplanted by opposite (and, of course, illegal) ordinances, which occasions a civil death of the English constitution, so that these two witnesses may be said to lie dead in all the West India islands! Slavery in the States

(The materials in this chapter begin with the close of the colonial period and are intended to give information about the spread and development of slavery in the states. The title, "Slavery in the States," is used because on the one hand a number of the references deal specifically with slavery in particular states and on the other hand the literature of the chapter falls naturally into two divisions, slavery in the southern states and slavery in the northern states.)

ings were annual, although none were held in 1799 and 1802; in 1806 it was decided to hold meetings triennially, and they were held accordingly in 1809, 1812 and 1815. The meeting of 1815 was immediately adjourned to 1816; after this date the meetings were held biennially, in 1817, 1819, 1821, 1823, 1825, 1827, 1829 and 1832, with adjourned meetings in 1818, 1826 and 1828, and a special meeting in 1837, after which the convention was dissolved. cf. Alice D. Adams, The neglected period of anti-slavery in America (1808-1831) 1908, p. 154 ff. The sessions were held in the following places: 1st-20th, Philadelphia; adjourned session of 20th, Baltimore; 21st-22d, Washington; special session of 1837, Philadelphia.

The Library of Congress set is incomplete: 11th, 1806; 15th, 1817; 16th, 1819; 18th, 1823; and the adjourned meeting, 1826, are wanting.

The Status and Control of the Slaves

(From 1619, when twenty Negroes were sold at Jamestown, Virginia, to 1856 when the Dred Scott decision was rendered, there was a continuous change in the status of the slaves. There developed during these years a set of laws defining and interpreting this status. During this period there were numerous law suits relative to the status of slaves. The more notable of these cases were concerned with the question whether slaves brought voluntarily or otherwise from the states in which slavery existed to states or territories where slavery did not exist remained slaves or became free. Similar cases were brought in the English courts relative to slaves carried from the British colonies to England. The first section of the references which follow, gives sources of information on the development of laws concerning the status of the slaves and the methods which were used for their control. The second section of this chapter furnishes references to sources of information on noted law suits relating to the status of the slaves.)

"Dred Scott, plaintiff in error, versus John F. A. Sandford. This case, which was an ordinary action of assault and battery, came up by writ of error from the Circuit court for the District of Missouri. The questions which arose in the U. S. Supreme court were whether the plaintiff-in-error, a Negro, was a citizen of the United States, in the sense in which that word is used in the Constitution, and whether the U. S. Circuit court had jurisdiction in the above mentioned case. The constitutionality of the Missouri compromise act was also brought into question.

The Free Negro

(During the period of slavery in the United States, there was a large number of free Negroes. When the first census of the nation was taken in 1790 they numbered 59,557; at the last census under slavery, 1860, there were 488,070 free Negroes. There is a large body of literature relating to the free Negro. The selections which follow are from this literature.)

Colonization

(As the number of free Negroes increased, the problem of their disposition received special attention. Colonization as a solution of the free Negro problem was early advocated. Colonization has also been advocated by some persons as a solution of the present-day problem of the Negro in the United States. The references in this chapter give sources of information concerning views on colonization and the efforts which were made to promote it.)

An historical inquiry concerning the attempt to raise a regiment of slaves by Rhode Island during the war of the revolution. With several tables prepared by Lt.-Col. Jeremiah Olney, commandant. Providence. S. S. Rider. 1880. xxii, 86 p.

Author shows that there was no regiment of slaves from Rhode Island, but that under a law in force February-June 1778 about 90 slaves were enlisted and freed, their masters being recompensed by the state. They were incorporated in the 1st Rhode Island continental line, and their conduct at the battle of Rhode Island and elsewhere is investigated. Olney, originally in the 2d Rhode Island regiment, became lieutenant colonel of the 1st, when the two were consolidated, and commanded the regiment the closing years of the war.

The Negro and Literature

(The five sections of this chapter are: (1) Discussions of the Negro in literature; (2) Negro poets and their poetry; (3) Short stories relating to the Negro; (4) Novels relating to the Negro; (5) Some additional books by Negro writers. The materials here presented are intended to give information about the use of dialect in the literature of the Negro; opinions of white and Negro writers of the Negro in literature; the poetry produced by Negro writers; short stories and novels relating to the Negro by white and Negro authors; histories, biographies and miscellaneous writings by Negro authors. These references, with the exception of a very small number relating to the Negro in literature in Europe and in Asia, refer to the Negro and literature in the United States.)

* Names are marked with an asterisk when the author is a Negro.

Hartford, August 4, 1778. An address to Miss Phillis Wheatley (sic) Ethiopian poetess, in Boston, who came from Africa at eight years of age, and soon became acquainted with the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

A winter piece; being a serious exhortation with a call to the unconverted; and a short contemplation on the death of Jesus Christ. Written by Jupiter Hammon, a Negro man belonging to Mr. John Lloyd of Queen's Village, on Long Island, now in Hartford. Published by the author with the assistance of his friends. Hartford. Written on the assumption that the Negro race is inferior, anti-social and lacking in adaptability. Nevertheless, what the writer has to say on diseases, including insanity, tuberculosis and syphilis, and the resulting economic waste is excellent. Though he believes the Negro race to be doomed to degeneracy he believes the white man to be responsible for the Negro's health, which at present is a menace to the whole country.

The housing of the city Negro, by B. J. Newman. Philadelphia. 1915.

Based on a survey of 1,158 Negro homes made by the Whittier center for the Philadelphia housing commission. Detailed information on sanitary arrangements with table of same. A section is devoted to the lodger evil. The conclusion is that Negro housing does not differ from the housing of any other race. The blame for conditions found is put chiefly upon the city itself. The need to take care of the single lodger and the necessity of having good houses to be rented at low rates are shown.

Negroes and Civil Rights in Law and Practice

(The materials in this chapter furnish references to sources of information concerning Negroes and civil rights in law and practice. A part of these references refers to civil rights of Negroes and the discriminating administration of the law with respect to schools, public places and public conveyances. Other references refer to the law as it is administered in the courts with respect to Negroes. There is a section of references to sources of information showing how the provisions of the war amendments, particularly the fourteenth, have been extended by the courts to apply to property and other rights of individuals and corporations in general. Segregation in residential areas and peonage each has a special section of references.)

This study outline has its origin in a number of such discussions—among college girls, among women in professions and in business, among mothers and teachers. It attempts to get at the problems that lie below the surface of immediate situations, to get back from the broader scientific and ethical aspects of the matter to the concrete difficulties in personal behavior and in neighborhood life.

Consult: Slave registration and compensation records (T. 71) 1812 to 1846. 1630 v. etc. In this class are comprised the records of (1) The slave registration department which was established pursuant to Stat. 59. Geo. III. c. 120. "An act for establishing a registry of colonial slaves in Great Britain, and for making further provision with respect to the removal of slaves from British colonies.

After the passing of the act in 1811 for the abolition of the slave trade many of the colonies had instituted registers of the Negroes lawfully held in slavery. Copies of these and subsequent registers were now ordered to be transmitted regularly to London.

The registers which extend from 1813 to 1834 number about 650 volumes, most of which are indexed under the names of the owners or plantations. (2) The slave compensation commission. This owed its origin to the act of 3 & 4 William IV. c. 73, by which slavery was abolished in the British dominions and a sum of £20,000,000 was granted by Parliament to compensate the slave proprietors. This was followed by various other acts to facilitate the distribution of the compensation until by Stat. 4, Vict. c. 18, it was directed that moneys unpaid after 31 Dec. 1842 should revert to the public.

Records of the treasury (Treasury papers). Public record office, London

Consult: Slave registration and compensation records (T. 71) 1812 to 1846. 1630 v. etc. In this class are comprised the records of (1) The slave registration department which was established pursuant to Stat. 59. Geo. III. c. 120. "An act for establishing a registry of colonial slaves in Great Britain, and for making further provision with respect to the removal of slaves from British colonies."

After the passing of the act in 1811 for the abolition of the slave trade many of the colonies had instituted registers of the Negroes lawfully held in slavery. Copies of these and subsequent registers were now ordered to be transmitted regularly to London. The registers which extended from 1813 to 1834 numbered about 650 plantations. (2) The slave compensation commission. This owed its origin to the act of 3 & 4 William IV. c. 73, by which slavery was abolished in the British Dominions and a sum of £20,000,000 was granted by Parliament to compensate the slave proprietors. This was followed by various other acts to facilitate the distribution of the compensation until by Stat. 4, Vict. c. 18, it was directed that moneys unpaid after 31 Dec. 1842 should revert to the public.
